Property Tax Review

Quarterly Snapshot

By Sandra Guilfoil, Assistant Director

We had wonderful comments from many of you on our 'new look' and the quality of the information we shared in our January revitalization of the The Property Tax Review. Thanks for your input – keep it coming!

This month our topics include a legislative summary, information on rule review status, class updates, and – at the top of our current list here at Property Tax – our building move! I must warn you that things will be a little crazy the week of May 8-12. Your best bet is call us and leave a voice mail. Most of us won't have desks that week and will be working at home! Please be patient, but keep calling. We are out there...somewhere...that week and will be checking our messages.

There are lots of things on the horizon this coming quarter, most importantly, the June WSACA Conference in Yakima. I can't wait to see the sun! You golfers will all be relieved to know that I will not burden you with my technique on the course this year. I have been told it is not my sport!

There should be no lack of agenda items for the conference meetings this year. Budget cuts and higher taxpayer and legislative expectations on the assessment community and the DOR continue to challenge us. With each efficiency measure or refocus of resources, there is change to manage and expectations to address. DOR has made a number of changes over the last year that will warrant discussion at the meetings and has ideas for several more in the future. I am certain the same is true in each county office as well.

I continue to appreciate WSACA's willingness to share their conference time with us so that we have time to share information and ideas and compile our resources where possible.

Again, my special thanks to David Saavedra and Sheryl Campbell, who are the force behind The Property Tax Review. ♦

The Property Tax Division is Moving!

By David Saavedra, Program Coordinator

Effective May 15, 2000, the Property Tax Division will be located at 1025 E. Union, Suite 200, in downtown Olympia. Our office will be housed with seven other divisions of the Department of Revenue. Directions to the new building from I-5 are to take the downtown, Plum Street exit from the freeway, turn right onto 22nd. The new location is on the corner of 22nd and Eastside Streets and is the only five-story building in the vicinity.

New phone numbers come with the move. You will find a new Contact List included with this newsletter. Our fax number and mailing address will remain unchanged. ♦

Valuation Workgroup Working Hard

By Mark Maxwell, Real Property Program Manager

The Property Tax Division has begun a review and analysis of the Personal and Industrial Property Valuation Schedules for the wood and paper industries. To do this we have established a workgroup to help us accumulate information.

Annually, the Property Tax Division updates and distributes valuation schedules for personal property and industrial real property to the 39 county assessor offices. Since these schedules constitute a primary valuation tool used by the assessment community, it is imperative that they provide a valid and accurate basis for the estimate of market value. It has been quite some time since the validity and accuracy of these valuation schedules have been reviewed and analyzed.

Workgroup participants from DOR include Neal Cook, Howard Hubler, Mark Maxwell, and Joe Simmonds. The assessment community is represented by David Coffman, Snohomish County; Paul Easter, Grays Harbor County; Jim Denison, Cowlitz County; and John Lifflander, Clark County. Industry representatives are Jack Chapman, Weyerhaeuser Company; John Christensen, Fort James Corporation; John Penney, Simpson Timber Company; and Joseph Duschik, Longview Fibre Company.

The Property Tax Division expresses a hardy "thank you" to the assessment and industry participants for investing their knowledge, experience, and, especially, their time in our continuing effort to improve our property tax system. ♦

Review of Legislation that Passed in 2000

By Peri Maxey, Technical Programs Manager

What started out to be a short 60-day session of the Legislature turned into "something more." Many property tax bills were considered, including various options to reduce the property tax burden for both homeowners and businesses. The extraordinary session ended with no property tax relief bill. The following list represents bills from this session, signed into law, that impact property tax administration. A complete copy of the text of each bill may be found on the Legislature's home page at www.leg.wa.gov under Bill Information. When looking up the text of a bill, be sure to access the filed marked pl for passed legislation. More information will be included in our next newsletter if any further property tax bills are signed into law.

Rules in Progress

By Kim Qually, Tax Policy Specialist

The Department of Revenue recently revised and adopted several rules related to the administration of property tax, and is in the process of amending still others. Rules already revised have gone through the formal rule making process required under the Administrative Procedures Act (APA). The APA requires a public meeting and a public hearing prior to formal adoption. The rules slated for revision will be subject to the same requirements.

The following is a listing and outline of the rules that have gone through the entire rule adoption process and will be effective in May 2000. Also listed and outlined are the rules slated for revision that are still going through the rule making process. The revision of rules is a priority with all state agencies due to recently passed Regulatory Reform legislation.

I. RULES THAT HAVE GONE THROUGH RULE MAKING PROCESS AND WILL BE PERMANENTLY ADOPTED IN MAY 2000:

On April 5th the rule making order, the CR-103, was filed with the Code Reviser. The amended rules will be effective the first week in May.

Rule regarding the valuation of public timber: WAC 458-12-320

Timber - ownership - valuation - roads - easements over public lands will be amended to include PTB 97-1

[Procedure for assessment of state timber sales] and WAC 458-12-315

[Timber and forest products - valuation]. The amended rule doesn't represent a change in policy or procedure. Both 12-315 and 12-320 were adopted in 1968 and contain very little useful information relevant today. Assessors have been relying on PTB 97-1 (Property Tax Bulletin, and its predecessors) as a guide to assess and value public timber sales. WAC 458-12-315 and PTB 97-1 will be repealed. The amended version of WAC 458-12-320 is effective May 6th.

Rule regarding exemption for improvements to single family dwellings: WAC 458-16-080

[Improvements to single family dwellings - definitions - exemption - limitation - appeal rights] has been expanded to include the relevant portions of WAC 458-16-081 [Exemption - filing - amount - limits] and a more detailed description of the process related to obtaining this exemption. This rule has been in the works for at least 6 years. The difficulty has been drafting language that limits the exemption to single-family residences, includes only improvements that actually increase the dwelling's, and doesn't conflict with other exemptions such as the destroyed property exemption. This rule should provide county administrators with more information and guidance about this exemption than they have had in the past. The previous rules were pretty "bare bones" and didn't lend much in the way of direction. WAC 458-16-081 will be repealed. The amended version of WAC 458-16-080 is effective May 6th.

On April 18th the rule making order for the following two rules was filed with the Code Reviser. The amended rules will be effective in mid-May.

Rules regarding exemption for homes for the aging: WAC 458-16A-010

[Nonprofit homes for the aging] and WAC 458-16A-020 [Nonprofit homes for the aging – Initial application and annual renewal] were revised to reflect 1999 changes made by the legislature to the underlying statute, RCW 84.36.041. The updated text of WAC 458-16A-010 contains information about the exemption available to homes for the aging and about how the size of the property tax exemption will be determined. The revised text of WAC 458-16A-020 explains how applications submitted will be processed when such a home is completed or begins operating after the January 1st assessment date. This rule also describes the manner in which the size of the exemption will be determined when a home for the aging receives more than one government housing subsidy. An application processing deadline, which has no statutory basis, is also being deleted from this rule. The amended version of WACs 458-16A-010 and 458-16A-020 are effective May 19th.

II. RULES IN PROGRESS:

Amendments to rules involving the current use program.

On March 22, 2000, a public meeting was held to discuss proposed changes to a number of rules involving the current use program:

WAC 458-30-200 Definitions;

WAC 458-30-275 Continuing classification upon sale or transfer of ownership of classified land;

WAC 458-30-285 Withdrawal from classification;

WAC 458-30-295 Removal of classification;

WAC 458-30-300 Additional tax – withdrawal or removal from classification;

WAC 458-30-305 Due date of additional tax, applicable interest, and penalty upon withdrawal or removal;

WAC 458-30-310 County recording authority – county financial authority; and WAC 458-30-325 Transfers between classifications – Application for reclassification.

At this meeting rule the proposed repeal of WAC 458-30-315 [County financial authority – duties] and WAC 458-30-350 [Reclassification of lands classified under chapter 84.34 RCW prior to 1973] was also discussed. As a whole these rules explain the terms used in administering the current use program authorized by chapter 84.34 RCW, describe the process for withdrawing or removing land from current use classification, reclassifying land within the program, and the duties or the county auditor and treasurer relating to current use land. Changes to the rules are needed at this time because of 1999 legislative changes to various statutes in chapter 84.34 RCW. The legislative changes added several new exemptions to the list of circumstances or transactions involving current use land upon which no back taxes will be collected when classified land is removed or withdrawn from classification. The revised text of WAC 458-30-310 combines the current text of WACs 458-30-310 and 458-30-315 so that the overlapping duties of the county auditor and treasurer are described in one self-contained rule. As amended WAC 458-30-325 clarifies how land may be moved from one classification to another within either chapter 84.33 or 84.34 RCW. WAC 458-30-350 is to be repealed because it merely reiterates RCW 84.34.150. No one attended the public meeting or submitted any written comments. We plan to file the notice of proposed rule making, the CR-102, by May 3rd and a public hearing will be held on the proposed changes to these rules on or about June 6, 2000.

New rules on the property tax aspects of removing designated and classified forest land.

On April 18th we filed a pre-proposal statement of inquiry, the CR-101, for two new rules relating the removal of classified and designated forest land under chapter 84.33 RCW. This is the first step in the rule making process. Both rules deal with the property tax aspects of classified and designated forest land. Proposed WAC 458-70-700 [Classified forest land – removal – change of status – compensating tax] and WAC 458-30-710 [Designated forest land – removal – change of status – compensating tax] outline the reasons for and the process involved in removing forest land from classification or designation under chapter 84.33 RCW. The rules incorporate and clarify information provided in RCWs 84.33.120 and 84.33.140. They are designed to give local officials and taxpayers a better understanding of their rights and responsibilities in the removal process. The rules also outline how compensating property taxes are calculated when forest land is removed from classification or designation. DOR receives many calls each week on the removal of forest land from current use status under chapter 84.33 RCW and these rules are being written to address many of the questions that have been asked over the last several years. A public meeting on the two rules is scheduled for May 23, 2000. A draft copy of the rules will be mailed to the assessors and other interested parties within the next week or so. ♦

So, you own a fixed load? How is it to be taxed – Property Tax or Licensing Fee?

By Joe Simmonds, Personal Property Program Manager and David Saavedra, Program Coordinator

Fixed load? What's that? That is the response most of us have (including mine!), and what is the issue regarding fixed loads? The issue came up with the initial passage of

Initiative 695 when licensed vehicles lost their exemption from property taxation. Of course, we know that several provisions of I-695 are currently under appeal to Washington's highest court, but the Legislature fixed the property tax portion of I-695 on licensed vehicles by reinstating their property tax exemption through Substitute Senate Bill 6115 (SSB 6115) signed by the Governor on March 27, 2000.

For purposes of SSB 6115, motor vehicles are defined as, "all motor vehicles, trailers, and semitrailers used, or of the type designed primarily to be used, upon the public streets and highways, for the convenience or pleasure of the owner, or for the conveyance, for hire or otherwise, of persons or property, including fixed loads....", (Section 1 (a)).

The Department of Revenue interprets fixed loads to mean things such as concrete pumpers, concrete redi-mix, well drilling rigs, cranes, cherry pickers, boom trucks, tommy lifts, or similar mechanical equipment attached to or made a permanent part of a vehicle designed primarily to be used upon public streets and highways.

The exemption created by SSB 6115 applies retroactively to the January 1, 2000 assessment date. Counties that have in the past included fixed loads fitting this definition in their personal property assessments are advised to remove them from their January 1, 2000 assessment ♦

Practical Planning Tools Workshop Update

By Shawn Kyes, Revaluation Specialist

The new Practical Planning Tools 2-day workshop was conducted on both sides of the state during the months of February and March. The goal of this course is to get top managers of assessor's offices together and create a forum that encourages the sharing of ideas on improving services. The ideas come forward and allow assessing managers to take this information back to their offices.

Through group activities; the participants identified, discussed, and developed practical alternatives to the many challenges that assessment officials face. Some of the areas of discussion included: ways to better meet public information requests, mass appraisal techniques, public and government relations, budget preparation, personnel issues, scheduling and timeliness. ♦

Legal Description Course

By Pete Levine, Education Specialist

Over 40 students participated in a one-day Basic Legal Description course on February 9th held in Lacey. The course, facilitated by the Technical Programs Section of the Property Tax Division, was jointly sponsored with the Washington State Association of County Assessors, utilizing an instructor from the Cowlitz County Assessor's Office and attended mostly by assessment staff from western Washington.

The course was developed for those with little or no knowledge of legal descriptions, providing a basic working knowledge and understanding of the most common land descriptions used in the state of Washington. Participants also learned basic legal description history and how to read and write basic legal descriptions. The responses were positive with both novice and experienced students agreeing that the course will enhance their current job performance, which will lead to greater uniformity of property tax assessment. ♦

Accreditation

By Pete Levine, Education Specialist

Keep those training certificates nearby!

The Accreditation Program will implement several changes beginning May 1, 2000. While the program will remain fundamentally the same, each accredited appraiser will be expected to maintain and track their continuing education for renewal. In addition, it will be the responsibility of each appraiser to renew their accreditation and to provide documentation with their renewal by submitting copies of their training certificates from course providers – regardless of whether or not the training was sponsored by the Department or WSACA.

If you have not seen it, a letter has been sent to each county assessor's office for distribution to all accredited appraisers, detailing the specific changes. If you have additional questions, feel free to contact Pete Levine by phone at (360) 586-2902 or by E-mail at PeteL@dor.wa.gov. ♦

Remember....

Effective May 15, 2000, the Property Tax Division will have a new physical location at 1025 E Union, Suite 200, Olympia, WA. Our mailing address will remain P. O. Box 47471, Olympia, WA 98504-7471. If you get a chance, stop by to see our new office!

Who To Contact - New Phone Numbers

By David Saavedra, Program Coordinator

In order for you to get to know our staff better, know who is responsible for what program, and know who might actually have the answer to your question - not to mention that we are moving and are changing our phone numbers - we are including an updated contact list with this newsletter for your convenience. We will continually update this list as changes occur. Please don't hesitate to call! ♦
